

PAHERNIK FORESTS NATURE RULES HERE!

Forest etiquette – sparkles

The forest is not a Wi-Fi zone. Yet, somehow – you can still connect here. With yourself, with nature, with peace.

We don't hug trees for Instagram. Hug them because it feels good. And please – no chainsaws!

What you bring into the forest, you take out. Pahernik didn't like rubbish – neither do we.

Talking to trees – allowed. Yelling – not. Quiet walkers with quiet happiness – those are our favorite kind.

The forest at night isn't a stage for a light show – Nocturnal animals have their own parties – without spotlights, please!

The forest trail is not a racetrack. If a squirrel overtakes you, it's just because she's a local.

Don't pick mushrooms greedily. Leave some for the deer. And for those who come after you.

If you meet a deer, don't try to talk to her. She understands leaves, not people.

Dogs should be on a leash. We love them – but the deer have a different opinion.

When a sign says "prohibited," it's not a challenge – it's a request. Listen to the forest, not your ego.

Bonfires aren't for every day. The forest burns fast. Let your inspiration burn instead.

The forest is not a karaoke bar. Birds already have the stage booked.

Don't pick the flowers – let others see them too. And let the bumblebee continue its visit.

Stay on the path. Paths are here for a reason. The forest has its own order, even if it's green and soft.

Pahernik's forests are cultural heritage. Act as if you are in a museum without a roof.

The last rule?

In the forest, act as you'd wish others to behave in your living room. Just with more moss and no slippers.
